Sondage / Survey

- At the seminar Debatable Points on Neo-Ottomanism (Sofia, 4 April 2016), Ivan Kostov, Director of the Risk Analysis Management Laboratory, presented the results of a sociological survey that reveals of tendency of radicalization of the Muslims in Bulgaria. According to it, about 4.4% of this religious community (or 25,400 believers) have been radicalized. Such Muslims consider the sacrifice of one’s life for his/her religion normal. Other 1.45% (8000 Muslims) responded that terrorism is justifiable under certain circumstances. In Kostov’s view, this radicalization is a product of the religious training some Bulgarian imams have received in countries as Jordan, Egypt, and Saudi Arabia. He also suggests that the alumni of Arab religious schools are now involved in the ISIS traffic through Bulgaria, the propaganda of its Islamist ideology and the promotion of Sharia among the local Muslims, especially among the less educated and socially excluded Muslims of Roma origins. Furthermore, Ivan Kostov refers to the “Turkish political Islam” as another stimulus for this negative tendency. In this regard, he pays special attention to a recent statement of the Chief Mufti that the 45% of the budget of his religious organization comes from Turkey. This means that 450 imams and 4000 Muslim students in Bulgaria have become financially dependent on the Dyiante, Turkey’s Directorate of Religious Affairs. In parallel, 176 new Muslim prayer houses were built in Bulgaria between 2000 and 2014. Meanwhile, over 400 mosques stay empty, i.e. no service was performed there in 2015.

Actualité juridique / Legal news

- Le 28 novembre 2015, la loi fédérale « Sur la liberté de la conscience et les associations religieuses » a été complétée par un nouvel article 25.1 et par la modification de certains autres articles. Les organisations religieuses recevant un financement de la part d'organisations étrangères et internationales ou des citoyens étrangers sont mises sous le contrôle spécial du Ministère de la Justice. Elles sont tenues de présenter au ministère un rapport annuel détaillé de leurs activités, de leur personnel encadrant, de l'utilisation du financement provenant de l'étranger, ainsi que de publier ce rapport dans les media.
- Le 30 mars 2016, la loi fédérale « Sur la liberté de la conscience et les associations religieuses » a été complétée par un nouvel article 21.1 concernant la disposition des biens des organisations religieuses. Dorénavant, tous les contrats de disposition de ces biens (vente, achat, bail) doivent recevoir l'autorisation des autorités suprêmes ecclésiastiques indiquées dans les statuts de l'organisation religieuse (par exemple, pour une paroisse orthodoxe, le contrat doit être autorisé par l'évêque du diocèse). Sans cette autorisation, le contrat sera nul en droit civil. Cette nouvelle organisation juridique correspond à la volonté de l'Eglise orthodoxe russe et des autres organisations religieuses centrales de renforcer leur contrôle sur les activités économiques des organisations locales subordonnées (paroisses etc.).
